F. E. WENDELBOE, MERCHANT HERE 40 YEARS, DIES

Fred E. Wendelboe, of 429 Hickory street, one of Warren's best known business men, passed away at the Warren General Hospital about nine o'clock last evening following an operation to which he submitted on December 28th. He was aged 64 years.

He was born in Warren on October 15, 1876, and spent his entire life here with the exception of five years in Colorado. For the past forty years he had been associated with the N. K. Wendelboe Company here.

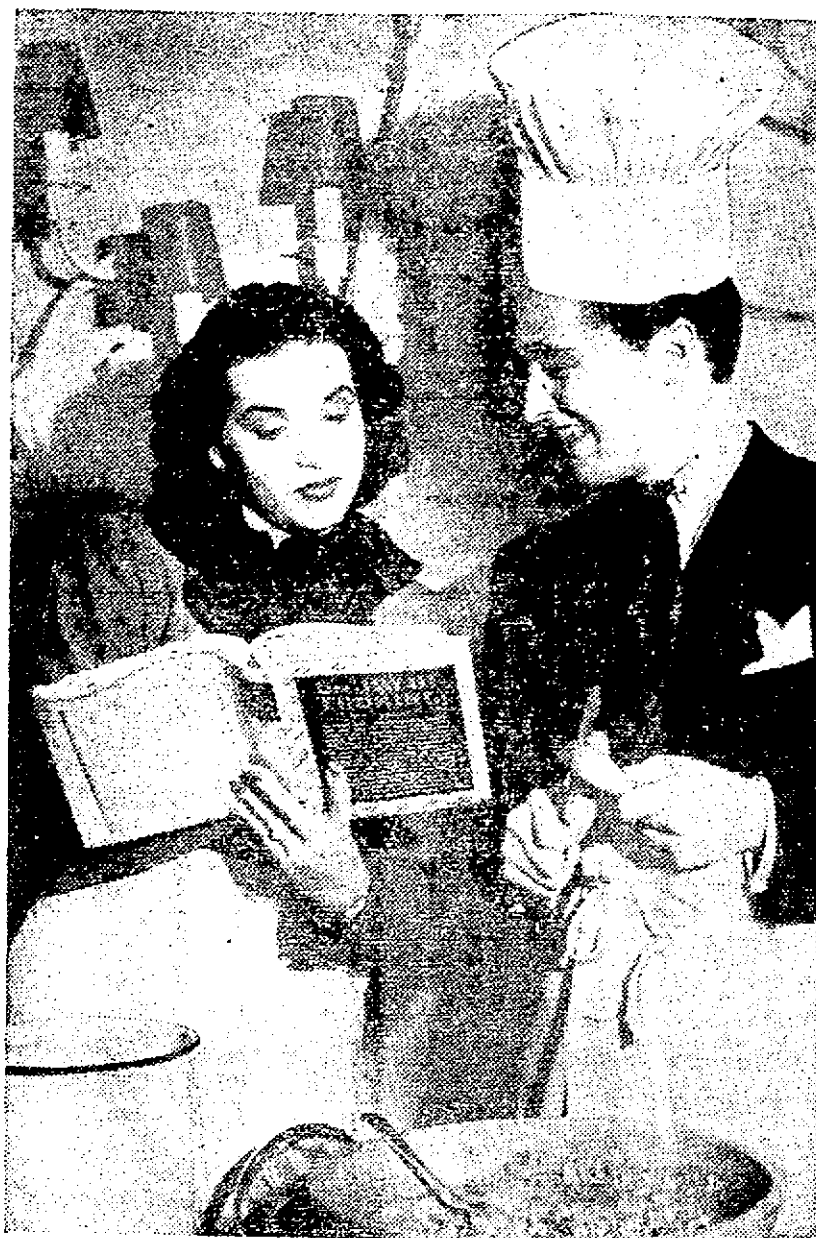

He served in the Spanish-American War as a corporal in Company I, 16th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry and was in Porto Rico from July 15 to October 18, 1898.

He was a member of the Lewis M. Clark Camp, United Spanish War Veterans; Loten Dinsmoor-Fred Schwing Post, No. 631, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States; North Star Lodge, No. 241, F. and A. M.; and Coudersport Consistory. He also was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

He is survived by his wife, Edith P. Wendelboe, to whom he was married on October 11, 1905. He also leaves three sons, Plue, Delford and Fred, Jr., of Warren; one brother, N. P. Wendelboe, of Warren; two sisters, Miss Mayme Wendelboe, of Warren, and Mrs. Louise Vincent, of Akron, Ohio; and one granddaughter, Lois Ann Wendelboe.

Services in his memory will be conducted from the home, 429 Hickory street, on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock with Dr. Harold C. Warren and the Rev. Pinkney Wroth officiating. Interment will be in the Soldiers Plot in Oakland cemetery with the United Spanish War Veterans in charge. Bearers will be members of the Masonic order, with honorary bearers being members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Practice Makes Perfect

Look like a picture of an old married couple settling down to the business of preparing dinner? It's just a rehearsal, for Josephine John, a current New York debutante glamor girl, and Blaine Faber were just engaged. They're pictured at a recent linen and kitchen shower given for them by the bride-to-be's sister, Jane Sterling Adriance.

NAME OFFICERS OF SHRINE CLUB FOR YEAR 1941

At a business meeting held last evening at the American Legion Home, A. R. Peterson was elected president of the Warren County Shrine Club for 1941.

The meeting followed a delectable turkey dinner served to 32 members of the organization.

Other officers named at this time were Floyd Rice, vice president; W. E. Yeager, secretary-treasurer; H. S. Lundahl and Harold A. Ross, directors.

There was a discussion of plans to attend the annual meeting and ceremonial of Zem Zem Temple in Erie on Wednesday, January 8, when a number of local members are planning to be present.

The next meeting of the local group will be held February 19, with plans of the program to be announced later.

A pleasant social time followed last night's business session.

AIR MAIL TRIP ENDS AT CORRY

With air visibility nearly zero in one of the murkiest days experienced in weeks, the southbound airmail pick-up plane called off its flight when it arrived over Titusville shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon and returned to Corry, where it spent the night.

The pilot circled over Titusville about five times in a vain attempt to locate the pick-up station at the unlighted Colonel Drake airport. After flying at a low altitude for about 15 minutes, the plane suddenly headed north and disappeared.

About 15 minutes later the Titusville post office received a telegram saying the flight had been cancelled. Post office officials assume the plane landed in Corry, just seven minutes flying time from Titusville, which would allow eight minutes for the telegram to reach here.

The plane was enroute from Jamestown, N. Y., to Pittsburgh and was due in Titusville at 3:57 p. m. F. O. Bodamer, who carries the mail from the local post office to the airport, reported he waited at the field the required hour before returning the mail to town. He said he could hear the plane circling about, but it was so foggy near the airport that he couldn't see it. So heavy was the gloom, in fact, Mr. Bodamer said he couldn't even see the houses along the road as he drove to the field.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY HOLDS CASE MEETING

At the regular case meeting of the Warren County Children's Aid Society, held Tuesday morning, reports were read of Christmas work done by the various committees.

As has been customary for several years, one committee shopped for the special requests made by the 40 children at the Hoffman Home; wrapped and delivered the gifts thus furnished by the joint donations of the Rotary Club and the Warren county commissioners.

Another committee was in charge of the gifts to the 207 children in Warren borough who received useful clothing and toys purchased by the Christmas Fund maintained by the society for this specific purpose; plus toys donated by many friends of the young people, including the Warren fire department.

The Warren Business and Professional Women's Club was mentioned gratefully in the listing of Christmas donations, as were a Girl Scout troop, the Warren County Medical Auxiliary and several generous individuals who are being mailed notes of appreciation.

Members of the board of directors have asked the Times-Mirror to express their thanks to all generous contributors to the Christmas Fund; also to remind the public that gifts of toys, clothing or money are acceptable at any time of the year for this Yuletide fund of the society.

OBITUARY

AUGUST WEBB

Military rites were conducted in Marmaronek, N. Y., this morning for August Webb, 27, brother of Mrs. Leon Harris, Jr., of 11 Plum street, who died early Tuesday morning as the result of a motorcycle accident on Christmas day. At the same time a prayer service in his memory was conducted by the Rev. J. H. Clemens at the home of the sister, only surviving relative, who was unable to attend the services in Marmaronek because of illness.

CECIL MEALEY

Funeral services in memory of Cecil Mealey, fatally injured in an automobile accident at the Scott overhead on Monday morning, were held Thursday afternoon. A prayer at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Duke A. Mealey, Jackson Run Road, at 1:30 o'clock was followed by rites conducted at the Free Methodist church by Rev. Kifer. Interment was made in the Pine Grove cemetery at Russell, with the following serving as bearers: Richard English, Harold Munsey, Melvin McConnell, Harold Carlson, Ralph Anderson and Carl Brown.

Attending the services from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Walters, Roy Walters and Sara Patti, Allegany, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Desher, Pleasantville; Mrs. Cora Bloomquist, Pontiac, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. William Desher, James Babb and Mrs. William Kerr, Mayburg; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Baldwin and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Harmon and children, Bolivar, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Albin Jimmy, Hilda and Gladys Walters, Lucinda; Mrs. Ray Peterson, Sheffield; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Desher, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hendrickson and family, Youngsville; Mrs. Lyle Teft, Oil City; Robert Mealey, Bradford; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Mealey, Erie; Mrs. Calvin Kifer, Endeavor.

New Year's Baby to Receive Many Gifts From Local Stores

To Robert Frederick Lindberg, who arrived in this world at 6:17 o'clock yesterday morning goes the designation as Warren's 1941 New Year's baby.

Robert Frederick was born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lindberg, of 23 Gladstone avenue, at the maternity hospital here and tipped the scales at eight pounds, 11½ ounces.

Nine lovely gifts, offered by as many merchants of Warren and North Warren, will go to young Master Lindberg. They are as follows:

Class jar set for the bath from Metzger-Wright Company.
Bathinette from Blomquist Furniture Shop.
Pair of "Cozy Foot" baby shoes from Brown's Boot Shop.

Six 4 by 6 photos in folders from Stokes Studio.
Two dozen diapers from J. C. Penny Company.

Electric bottle warmer from C. Beckley, Inc.
Two dollars worth of milk tickets from Warren County Dairy Association.

Two dollars worth of merchandise from Mullen Drug Company.
Complete set of child's silver from Darling Jewelry Company.

INSPECTION PERIOD

With orders pouring into Harrisburg at the rate of 40,000 daily, Secretary of Revenue William J. Hamilton, Jr., predicted today that more than 2,500,000 motor vehicles will carry state safety inspection stickers before the January 31 deadline. An Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg quoted Hamilton as saying that there are now nearly 1,050,000 stickers either on vehicles or in the hands of inspection station officials. The inspection period started November 1.

SALES INCREASE

Sales of Four Kings straight rye whiskey showed an increase of more than 30 percent for the first eleven months of this year. "Our expanded program of newspaper advertising scheduled for 1941 insures that Four Kings will not only maintain but increase its position as the biggest-selling straight rye in Pennsylvania," Samuel Kasser, president of Kasko Distillers Products Corporation, said. Bonuses and gifts to office and plant employees were distributed at the company's Christmas party held at the main plant in Philadelphia, December 24th.

Tender romance . . . earthy humor . . . colorful people in a wandering tent show! That's the thrilling background for "Chad Hanna," by Walter D. Edmonds' Technicolor hit from the 20th Century-Fox studios which stars Henry Fonda, Dorothy Lamour and Linda Darnell, opens Friday and today at Library Theatre.
Published in the Saturday Evening Post as "Red Wheels Rolling" and later taking its place on the best-seller lists, "Chad Hanna" narrates the adventures of a country boy played by Henry Fonda, who runs away with a tent show.
There are two women in Chad's life—one a love-starved country wail, portrayed by Linda Darnell, who clothed Chad in a glory of worship and Albany Yates, played by Dorothy Lamour, who so dazzled him with her sultry allure that he forgot the girl at his side. Around these three is woven what has been hailed as the love story of the year.

Texas Hails O'Daniel's Latest--'Holiday Children'

Governor Leads Drive to Start 'Orphans' Week'

BY CLAYDE LA MOTTE
NEA Special Correspondent

Austin, Tex., Jan. 3.—Chalk up another one for W. Lee O'Daniel, governor of Texas.

For although shedding Christmas trees have been tossed out in the alley and bright holiday lights have been stored away for another year, people of the Lone Star State—and other states too—are still talking about O'Daniel's latest idea.

He broached it a bit cautiously in one of his weekly Sunday broadcasts to the people of the state. It was his belief, he told his listeners, that about the nicest exhibition of Christmas spirit he could think of would be for as many families as possible to go to one of the two orphan homes in the state and invite a parentless boy or girl to spend the holiday season with them.

That was less than 10 days before Christmas, but the plan caught like wildfire and requests began pouring in on the orphan homes at Corsicana and Waco.

Came Christmas Day and the two homes were almost completely deserted. More than 400 children were keeping a date with Santa Claus in the friendly atmosphere of a real home with a "mother" and a "dad" to share the fun with them.

And two of the happiest orphans of them all were little Wanda Kilgore, 5, and Charley Goodson, 4, because they spent the entire Christmas week in the governor's mansion in Austin.

The result of the unofficial "orphans' week" was amazing. Many of the families who had invited a boy or girl out for the holidays indicated they would like to adopt them permanently. Hundreds of others immediately wrote and wired the governor that the practice must be repeated.

So through the maze of holidays that clutter the calendar, orphans' week has crowded its way and it's a safe bet that it will become an annual custom. Interest from outside the state indicates that the idea may spread across the nation.

Surprised a bit at the instantaneous and hearty response, Texas' governor passes along the credit to the "peace-loving and kind-hearted people of the state."

The O'Daniel family... with children... and "holiday children." Pat, Molly and Mike O'Daniel are in the back row. Mr. and Mrs. O'Daniel and Charley Goodson and Wanda Kilgore in the front row. Charley and Wanda are from the state orphan's home.

Forests Could Employ Extra Two Million in Development of Lands

Full development of America's forest land, represented by one of every three acres in the United States, could provide work each year for two million additional men, according to Raymond D. Garver, director of the forest survey, Forest Service, in the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Garver spoke Dec. 19 at the 40th annual meeting of the Society of American Foresters being held in Washington.

"In 1936," Garver said, "the forest resource, including all services, is estimated to have furnished directly and indirectly an equivalent of year-long jobs for almost four million persons. Full development of the forests could raise this figure to more than six million men."

Garver reported that the nation's forest resource totals some 630 million acres containing more than 500 billion cubic feet of live timber. "Divided up," Garver said, "this would give each American citizen about 5 acres of forest land as compared to France and Germany where forest land per capita is less than one acre, and with Sweden with a per capita of 9 acres, Finland with 16 acres, and Norway with 6 acres."

"The forest land is available," he said.

ONLY AMERICAN DOG

Some authorities say the Boston terrier is the only American breed of dog. The crossing of a building with an English terrier in Boston more than 60 years ago is said to have originated the breed.

BOARD MEETING OF SALVATION ARMY IS HELD

One of the important items of business transacted at the Salvation Army's Citizens Advisory Board meeting, held yesterday afternoon in the local citadel, was the auditing of the Christmas fund and allocation of expenditures.

The income amounted to $755.55; $337.99 received in street kettles, $295.00 in donations by mail and $122.56 from net profits on the sale of the Christmas War Crys. Hundreds of contributors made up the sum total which was gratifying to the advisory board.

The largest amount contributed was $50.00, one friend gave $30.00, three—$25.00, three—$10.00, thirteen—$5.00 and the balance in $1.00, $2.00 and $3.00 contributions. The names of donors are not being listed due to the fact that such a large number requested the omission of their names.

Splendid weather greatly swelled the kettle receipts. Both contributions received in the mail and kettle income exceeded last year's figures. The profits on sale of Christmas War Crys were approximately the same.

Expenditures for Christmas orders, shoes, clothing and needed gifts for children amounted to $501.35.

Largely because the local band worked overtime in assisting to raise the fund, the Advisory Board allocated $32.00 for band repairs and equipment, with a small additional amount for uncompleted replacing. The balance of the Christmas fund was allocated to winter relief service.

Action was taken on several details of the Warren Corps anniversary preparation. Some property and finance matters were referred to committees headed by W. W. Muir and H. B. Meacham respectively.

Major B. E. Flinn announced several outstanding activities for the near future as part of the Army's national evangelistic effort entitled "Christ for the Family, the Family for Christ."

The following Board members were present: John G. Rossman, Mrs. A. A. Keller, H. B. Meacham, S. M. McClure, W. D. Todd, C. S. Knapp, W. W. Muir, Major and Mrs. Flinn, and Lieut. R. Schrader.

SCHOOL BOARD AND COUNCIL TO HOLD MEETINGS

January meetings of the Warren borough council and school board will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the former in the council chamber of the municipal building and the latter in the high school.

At the council meeting, it is expected that the tentative budget for 1941 will be presented. This is expected to be approximately the same as that for the past year.

Annual appointment of various officials is also expected to take place at this meeting. Those whose names include the following: Police Chief George F. Haehn, Fire Chief Douglas G. Kropf, Assistant Fire Chief Joseph Sullivan, Fire Captains Leon Brown and Charles Albaugh; Herman Ecklund, janitor, and John Higgins, member of the board of health.

Routine business is expected to occupy the attention of the school board, which completed its reorganization at the December meeting.

HISTORIC SESSION ENDS

After shattering a large number of records, not the least of which was the fact that it had been meeting for 367 days, Congress has adjourned. It was the longest in history and many believe it will be years before it will be equalled.

The length of the session was attributed to the expressed determination of the lawmakers to stay in Washington during the troubled war months.

Several attempts to end the session during the fall were voted down decisively.

Another record set in the session was on appropriations. Swollen as never before in peacetime by funds for military purposes, actual direct appropriations totaled nearly $17,000,000,000 and future contracts for more than $8,600,000,000 were authorized.

Along with this outpouring of money the congress added vast resources of manpower to the nation's defense effort, enacting the first peacetime conscription law in history.

The great theme of argument continued throughout the dying hours of the session to be America's relation to the conflict in Europe. In the house, shortly before adjournment yesterday, Rep. Cox, of Georgia, asserted that President Roosevelt's Sunday night address on defense and aid to Britain was "in effect a declaration of war." While in the senate, which adjourned today, Senator Lee of Oklahoma appealed for every effort by this country "to keep England afloat."

Here is a summary of the major legislation enacted by the 1940 congress:

Appropriations—Set peacetime spending record by appropriating nearly $17,000,000,000 in cash and authorizing future contracts for more than $8,600,- 000,000, on basis of figures by house appropriations committee.

Defense—Voted vast expansion of army and navy;
ordered first peacetime conscription by selective draft.

Taxes—Increased levies on excess corporation profits; lowered personal income tax exemptions; increased taxes on cigarettes, whisky, etc.; raised federal debt limit to $19,000,000,000.

Trade—Extended for three years president's authority to sign reciprocal trade pacts with foreign countries.

Politics—Extended Hatch act's curbs on political activity to state and local employees paid partly by federal funds.

Farm—Appropriated $918,603,000 for agriculture department; voted to continue soil conservation and parity payments.

Relief—Voted $1,157,711,357 to continue WPA and other relief activities; authorized spending of entire sum in eight months if necessary.

Major B. F. Flinn and his capable staff deserve a word of commendation for the part the Salvation Army had in bringing happiness into homes in the borough and county that may have been unremembered had it not been for endeavors of this benevolent group.

Now that Christmas and New Year's are out of the way, how about sending that check in for the Christmas seeds you received a month ago?

Lot of Christmas trees are being hauled through town on garbage trucks. Why not save them for the Twelfth Night exercises next Monday evening?

Those bombers are going to keep footing around over Dublin until some people on the little island get their Irish up.

Looks like the kiddies will have to return to their studies without having enjoyed any winter sports during the vacation.

And there's that operators' license application to be taken care of during the month also!

Might just as well have that car inspected now

PRESIDENT FIGURES DE- FENSE SPENDING TO UP TAX INCOME

Second of four articles highlighting major issues before the new Congress.

Washington Jan. 3 If you want to know how optimistically the administration figures it's coming out on financing or paying for the cost of the defense effort, you might consider some of the celebrations that have been going on behind the scenes in figuring the new budget to be submitted to Congress early in January.

Increased defense expenditures will of course mean new taxes.
Treasury experts, however, are working on the theory that the business boom touched off by the defense program will greatly increase the amount of taxes collected under existing law. Belief is now being voiced that this increase will be great enough to come fairly close to balancing the seven or eight billions of ordinary government operating expenses.

Treasury is estimating that tax increases providing an extra billion in revenue can be voted this winter. That of course, would not take a very big bite out of the total that will be voted for defense.
Administration figures on financing the defense program is running about like this:

The nation probably will spend at the very least around $25,000,- 000,000 on defense in five years.
If an extra billion in taxes is collected each year, for 25 years the cost of the defense program can be met by this generation without passing on a load of debt to the future. That's the way they're figuring it on scratch pads.

Economies will be made where-ever possible in all non-defense items. Administration leaders recently conferred with leaders of the "economy bloc" in Congress, and tentatively agreed to hold up all appropriation bills until a uniform policy for non-defense measures can be worked out.

The administration is expected to approve sharp cuts in the public works program—except for defense items—and it is beginning to hope that increased prosperity will make possible a slash in relief costs.

The vast new defense appropriations will take plenty of Congress's time this winter, and since the new budget doesn't take effect until the beginning of the new fiscal year, July 1, 1941, there should be plenty of time in fighting all through the session.

The President hasn't give any direct word on the figures of his budget message to Congress but a fair guess is that it will run something like this:

For ordinary operations of the federal government (as distinct from defense program expenditures) something between seven and eight billion dollars.

For the United States defense program, leaving out any expenditures this government may make for British requirements) probably between five and seven billions.

What the British defense costs may run to can hardly even be guessed as yet. There won't be much basis for figuring unless and until Congress grants the authority to finance the British arms program in this country out of U. S.

funds.

Three billion dollars would be a conservative estimate to make for this British aid.

All this adds up to at least 17 billion dollars—more than approximately 46 million dollars a day. This is the highest budget in U. S. history, except for the last year of the World War, when we spent $18,500,000,000.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Pitcairn Island Issue Is 1940 Stamp Prize

ONE of the outstanding philatelic items of 1940 is the Pitcairn Island issue of eight values which brings the famous story of "Mutiny on the Bounty" into the collector's album. The issue is the first of Pitcairn Island's individual stamps.

Each stamp bears a portrait of King George VI. Captain William Bligh, Fletcher Christian and John Vane are introduced, scenes of the island and the Bounty are pictured. The lowest value shows a cluster of oranges, the chief export commodity.

The location of Pitcairn, mysterous isle of the Pacific, is shown on the map stamp above. The island was named after the mid-shipman who first sighted it from a British sloop in 1767. Tahiti and Tonga also are important in this 18th century sea drama.

War has returned Pitcairn to its former isolation, and completely destroyed foreign trade. Fear of German submarine or sea raider attack keeps steamers away from the rocky, 1200-acre island. Radio provides the only link with the outside world.

4680 BODICE FLATTERING IN NEW DRESS

PATTERN 4680

by ANNE ADAMS

You'll "cut a fine figure" whenever you go in this beautifully designed afternoon dress. It's an Anne Adams creation. Pattern 4680, and it will make you look slimmer than you ever thought possible. A skillful, tiny-waisted illusion is given by the slenderizing points at the front waist-seam. Tiny buttons sewn down the center seam serve to "break-up" your width-across. The simply-cut skirt has just enough fullness for perfect freedom. Make your sleeves short, with decorative tucks and single scallops, or have them long or three-quarter length. For a "dress-up" style use a filmy printed sheer for an all-around frock, dark crepes or soft wool is the thing.

Pattern 4680 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 2 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric and 2 1/2 yards lace edging.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly: SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Are you too tall? Too short? Too plump? Too slim? If you are irregularly proportioned in any way, let the ANNE ADAMS PERFECT FOUNDATION PATTERNS 4114 take the guess-work out of dressmaking. This "basic figure" pattern is fitted and adjusted to your exact measurements in tissue, then cut out in muslin for a permanent record. Pin your dress patterns to it, make the necessary changes, and the finished frock will fit with perfection. Designed for sizes 14 to 20; 32 to 50. Size 16 requires 3 3/8 yards 36 inch fabric. Price 15c.

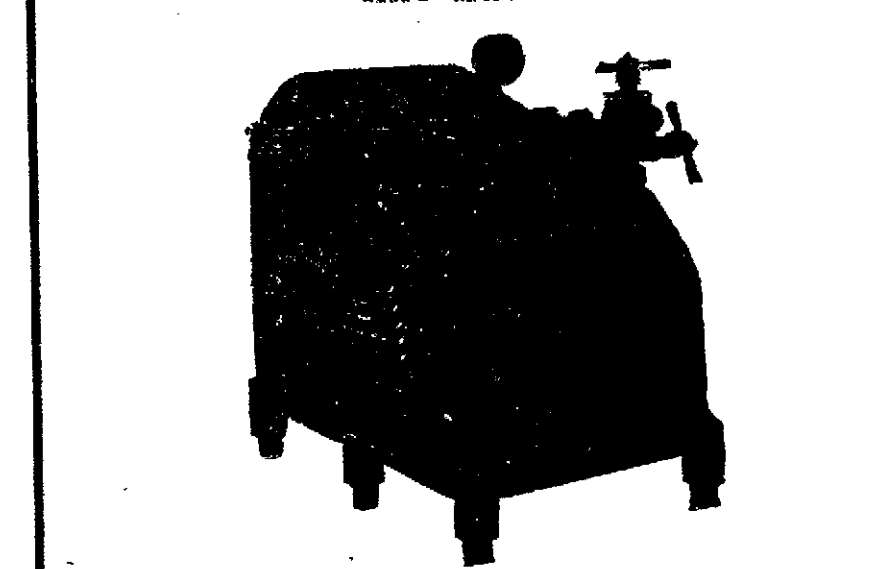

Send your order to Warren Times-Mirror, Pattern Department, 245 West 17th St., New York, N. Y.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—When President Roosevelt on January 20 rolls up Pennsylvania avenue from 1600, which is the White House, to naught-naught, which is the capitol, he'll be making history. He'll be the first man ever to take that ride for the same purpose a third time. But it'll be just another item in the inaugural history books, for inauguration day has been putting interesting items into the record from the very first.

When George Washington took the ride the first time, his Pennsylvania avenue was a twisted ribbon of mud from Mount Vernon to the old Federal hall in New York City. It took seven wearisome days to make the journey. His inauguration day was late. It was April 30 before those in charge got around to the business in hand and the oath was administered by R. R. Livingston, chancellor of the city of New York.

The President then went to the Senate chamber to make his inaugural address, setting a custom which it was presumed would continue forever. But by 1817, when James Monroe was inaugurated, the young nation already was busting out of its traditional weskint and the ceremonies came out in the open. There were two reasons: one that the committee in charge was afraid the new capitol building wasn't strong enough to avoid collapse under the weight of the assembled multitude; the other that the Senate and House had got into such a row over the distribution of tickets that the only way out was to move into the great open spaces where there would be room for more tickets.

Died Month Afterwards

WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON (1841), the grizzled old Indian warrior of 68 summers, rode up the avenue on his white charger in a raw wind and stood hatless and without overcoat for hours in the frigid weather while the ceremony dragged out. A month later he was dead from pneumonia. Ever since then, they have been talking about taking the inaugural back indoors, but nobody has figured out yet where a building could be found big enough to prevent another calamity.

Nationally Known Safety Expert Offers Suggestions For Safe Driving in Winter

AMES, Ia., Jan. 3.—With winter conditions prevailing in most sections of thirty-three northern states, safety authorities today asked motorists to be extra careful and take practical precautions in driving "Old Man Winter."

Declaring that November to March is the most crucial time in the year for motor safety, Professor Ralph A. Moyer of Iowa State College and chairman of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards, pointed out that accidents increase 35 to 45 per cent in northern states during winter months, as against only 3 to 21 per cent in southern states according to location and severity of weather conditions.

Professor Moyer termed the present public safety drive "A War at Home," and suggested consideration of two facts: (1) That air raids on the United Kingdom during September killed 6,954 civilians and injured 10,615, while during the same month in the United States nearly half as many persons were killed and ten times as many injured by traffic accidents. (2) That nineteen months of the last World War claimed lives of 50,510 American soldiers, while during the past nineteen months 52,010 persons were killed in automobile accidents in the U. S. The figures for nineteen months are cited because that was the length of time the United States was involved in the last war.

"This illustrates," he said, "the importance of safety education, engineering and enforcement."

The following Winter Driving Hazards and the vital Safety Practices in each instance provide a handy condensed formula for protecting pedestrians, other motorists, your car and yourself.

1. Skids on snow or ice are frequently started by unbalanced brakes. Have your brakes checked and equalized. The practice of letting air out of tires for snow and ice conditions has been proven a fallacy, since it gives very little extra traction and increases instability and tendency to skid on curves. It also damages tires, making them more susceptible to later blowouts.
2. Without chains even good tire treads slip and slide on snow or ice. Chains bite into the hard-packed snow or icy road surface. Check your tire chains. Put them on when needed for more positive stop and go traction.
3. Windshield wipers and defrosters that don't operate lead to winter accidents. Make sure wipers and defrosters are in good working order. You must see a hazard to avoid it.
4. Faulty headlights are prime causes of winter accidents. 1940-41 cars with sealed-beam headlights add to safety. But use "traffic beam" in cities or when passing other cars in country. Replace dead light bulbs immediately. Have headlights frequently checked for focus and direction.
5. High speeds on snow or ice are doubly dangerous. Adjust your speed to conditions. Even when protected with chains, speeds should be reduced from those considered reasonable on dry pavements. Keep an eye out for children on sleds. Approach icy curves slowly even with sand on the ice or chains on tires. If neither are present, "crawl." Avoid the necessity for sudden stops on snow or ice if you have neglected to put on chains.
6. "Crowding" other vehicles ahead of you or at your side is criminal carelessness on snow covered pavements. Maintain plenty of stopping space between your car and the car in front of you. Allow all the "skid space" possible between your fenders and the cars on each side. Don't try to pass cars on hills or curves. This is risky enough on dry pavements. It is foolhardy on snow and ice.
7. Sudden slowdowns and stops are a primary cause of sliding, skidding and spinning. Slow down gradually in your gear and "pump" brakes on and off to keep wheels from locking—particularly if you are not safe-guarded by chains. On snow or ice tire chains cut stopping distances 40 to 50 per cent and add appreciably to control of your car.
8. Cold weather encourages closed car windows and increases danger from carbon monoxide. Don't stay in closed garage or in car with tightly closed windows when warming up engine. Keep cowl ventilator open a bit while driving to force out carbon monoxide at least in old cars which

Importance of Forest Products in National Defense Plan Discussed

VOLUNTEERS TO FILL 2D QUOTA FOR THE DRAFT

A nation that has within its boundaries a potential supply of forest products has an enormous advantage in any emergency, according to C. P. Winslow, director of the Forest Products Laboratory of the U. S. Forest Service, Madison, Wisconsin. Mr. Winslow spoke on December 19 at the 40th annual meeting of the Society of American Foresters in Washington, D. C., on the importance of forest products in the national defense.

Pointing out that Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery had placed no less than second in the list of German necessities of war, Mr. Winslow outlined the vast number of uses in expedient preparation of a national defense in which wood is vital to the United States. Containers, pontoons, shipping containers for explosives, air-raid shelters, assault boats, charcoal for gas masks, resin for shipyard filling and plywood for training planes are only a few of the myriad military uses of wood that were mentioned.

Describing how the Germans had turned to wood for the production of motor fuel, oil, sugars, and other products, Mr. Winslow stated that the forest products which research agencies prize as demanding attention. The efficient adaptation of wood in the mass production of aircraft, including the development of fuselages, wings, and other parts, in whole or in part by mass production molding, the development of variable density propellers for modern high-powered airplane motors and a number of construction details in the mass production of bomber planes were given high priority on the list of research needed to facilitate national defense.

Other items named included sea-soning of gunstock blanks, improved shock-absorbing materials for all types of aircraft, increased supplies of high-quality pontoon timbers, further improvement of gas-mask charcoal, improved designs for shipping containers for military commodities, substitutes for imported cork and kapok, and the solution of problems connected with the rapid erection of both temporary and permanent cantonments and other military establishments. In order to expand trade with South America, Mr. Winslow said, more adequate knowledge of South American hardwoods is needed in this country. He also mentioned the need for expanded trade in pulp and paper and plywood in commerce with Central and South America.

Sugar Grove

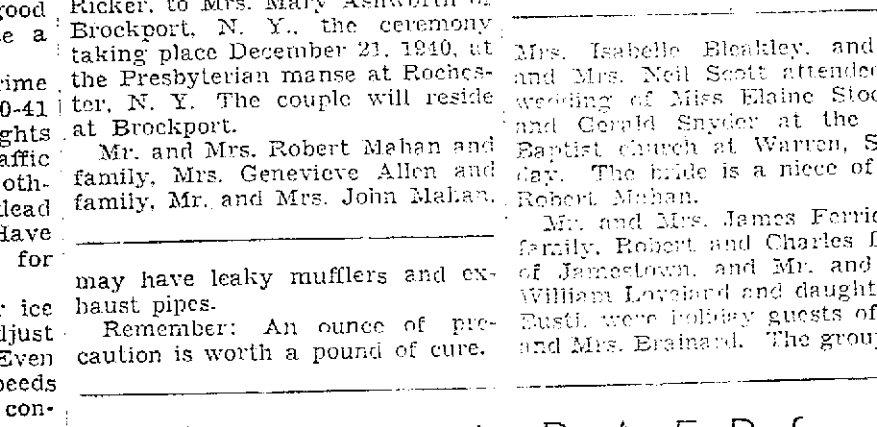

Sugar Grove, Dec. 31.—Mrs. Neil Scott was hostess to the C. O. Circle Friday evening at a Christmas party. Ten members and guests were present. The committee members who planned the affair were Mrs. Scott, Miss Louise Edin and Miss Mae Edin. Christmas hymns were sung with Miss Mae Edin as accompanist. Miss Willoh Brainerd conducted the devotional period. The evening was spent with games and conversation. Gifts were exchanged from the tree with Ruth Ann, the young daughter of the home, distributing them. Lillian and Lolita Rivera, of Brooklyn, eleven and twelve year old Spanish girls, sang several songs, a part of them in the Spanish language. The two girls are holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frances Belding of Allegany, N. Y. Other out of town guests were Miss Ruth Schoonover, of Harrisburg, and Miss Mildred Young, of Corry. Dainty refreshments were served. The next meeting of the society will be held Tuesday evening, January 28, at the home of Miss Brainerd.

Miss Josephine Ricker has received the announcement of the marriage of her nephew, Glenn Ricker, to Mrs. Mary Ashworth of Brockport, N. Y. The ceremony taking place December 21, 1940, at the Presbyterian manse at Rochester, N. Y. The couple will reside at Brockport.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mahan and family, Mrs. Genevieve Allen and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Mahan, may have leaky mufflers and exhaust pipes.

NATURE IMPROVES CHEESE

Naturally filtered and humidified winds blowing through the Roquefort caves in France and the rain water trickling from the crags produce atmospheric conditions which ripen the cheese in such a way as to give it its unrivaled flavor. This genuine Roquefort cheese can be made only in one place in the world.

ABOUT COMETS

Comets are semi-solid, bodies with long tails which come into the solar system from vast distances in outer space. They are visible only during a short period.

SELLING PRESCRIPTIONS IS THE MOST IMPORTANT PART OF OUR BUSINESS

THIS IS NO. 24 OF A SERIES "TELLING THE PUBLIC ABOUT THE DOCTOR"

Ten More Years of Life?

You want to prolong your years of usefulness, and live to your fullest, don't you? Then take care of your health. The human body is a wonderful piece of mechanism and stands for a great deal of abuse and neglect, but how it does respond to fair treatment!

Have a regular yearly physical examination—follow out the Doctor's suggestions about diet, rest, exercise and any little necessary physical attention. This will take little of your time or money, but what a tremendous amount of new energy, new life—longer, fuller, and richer life good health in abundance can give you.

Take time to check up regularly

Magic Spring

Romance Lives In A Deserted Inn

The Magic Of A Neglected Spring Makes Love Possible For Polly And David

Chapter One The Legacy

FOR several days David had been far too busy to realize that spring had come dancing over the hills. What with seeing that Aunt Julia was laid to rest in the old Wiley burial plot, discussing her somewhat mixed-up affairs with the family lawyer, and digging into his new job with the Pennsylvania Lumber Company, he just hadn't taken time to notice how the whole wide world had suddenly come to life.

But now, all at once, he was conscious of what was taking place. He had glanced out of the window while listening to the lawyer read Aunt Julia's funny little will, and there it was, Spring, just outside Mr. Seawell's office, springing in all her loveliness, wearing a gown of pastel shades, trimmed with silver, Springtime, and love, and a certain young man forgetting legal matters to think of a girl named Polly Jenkins.

Polly—and spring—and—
"Well, Davey," the lawyer said, "you don't seem very excited."

"No, sir," said David, started out of his reverie. "I don't reckon I do."

"Yes, sir, I understand," David said, somewhat dully. "I was afraid she'd do that."

"Yes, sir," David leaned forward, his young face now troubled. "The Inn's been a burden on Aunt Julia's hands for years, and now it looks like I'm going to have it a burden on mine. Gosh, Mr. Seawell, you know as well as I do that nobody's ever been able to do anything with 'Freddy's Policy' that wild dream of Uncle told him to stop having pipe-dreams, and do something practical."

"But he didn't," said David. "I know. I was pretty much of a kid, but I remember. Then Aunt Julia told me a lot about it. She even sold her jewelry and most of the family silver in order to help Uncle Fred carry out his plans, since nobody else had any faith in him."

"Yes, that's right," Mr. Seawell said. He removed his steel-rimmed glasses and began polishing them. "Fred sat right there where you are sitting now, and told me that he was sure the spring out where he later built the Inn had medical properties. He even said he couldn't for the life of him see why Ardendale ought to have a lot of folks coming from other health resorts—folks who were forever traipsing off to Europe to drink mineral water or bathe in it."

The glasses went back on the lawyer's nose. He signed. "Oh, well, Davey, I reckon everybody can't be steady, in-the-rut folks, like you and me."

"No, sir," said David. "I reckon they really can't."

He got up suddenly and walked over to where he could look down into Main Street. And as he stood there, gazing down upon the street which Frederick James Wiley had once pictured a thoroughfare of wealth and color and gaiety, he remembered something Aunt Julia had said to him just before she died.

The Promise
SHE had looked up at him from the old walnut bedstead with its ornately carved arched and leaves, and motioned for him to come a little closer.

"That's a good boy, Davey. You've been mighty sweet to me, an old relative-in-law, and—"

"There, there, honey," he soothed. "Now you must try to get some sleep."

How clearly it all came back to him; that scene in his aunt's bedroom; that promise he had made her. Good old Aunt Julia! She had understood how things were with him and Polly; how if he didn't have a responsibility in the form of a dependent relative, Polly had one.

Matters had been like that ever since he had been forced to leave college, ever since Polly had given up her plans to be a designer and had taken a job as cashier in Ye Olde Southern Tea Room. On and on, week after week, month after month, year after year.

But now, with Polly making a small salary, and him all set to go places with the lumber people, things were beginning to look a little brighter. Maybe Aunt Julia had the right idea. Maybe he oughtn't to put off marrying any longer. Maybe he and Polly were going to get a break after all. Maybe they were just about to turn that much-talked-of corner, around which Prosperity was supposed to be waiting.

Again the lawyer broke in upon his reverie.

"You mustn't let the old Inn get you down," Mr. Seawell was now saying. "I'll admit it sure does look like you've had a white elephant of a house dumped down on you instead of a relative, but—"

"I'm not down," said David. He faced the lawyer, a new light in his eyes. "I'll manage—somehow, Polly and I."

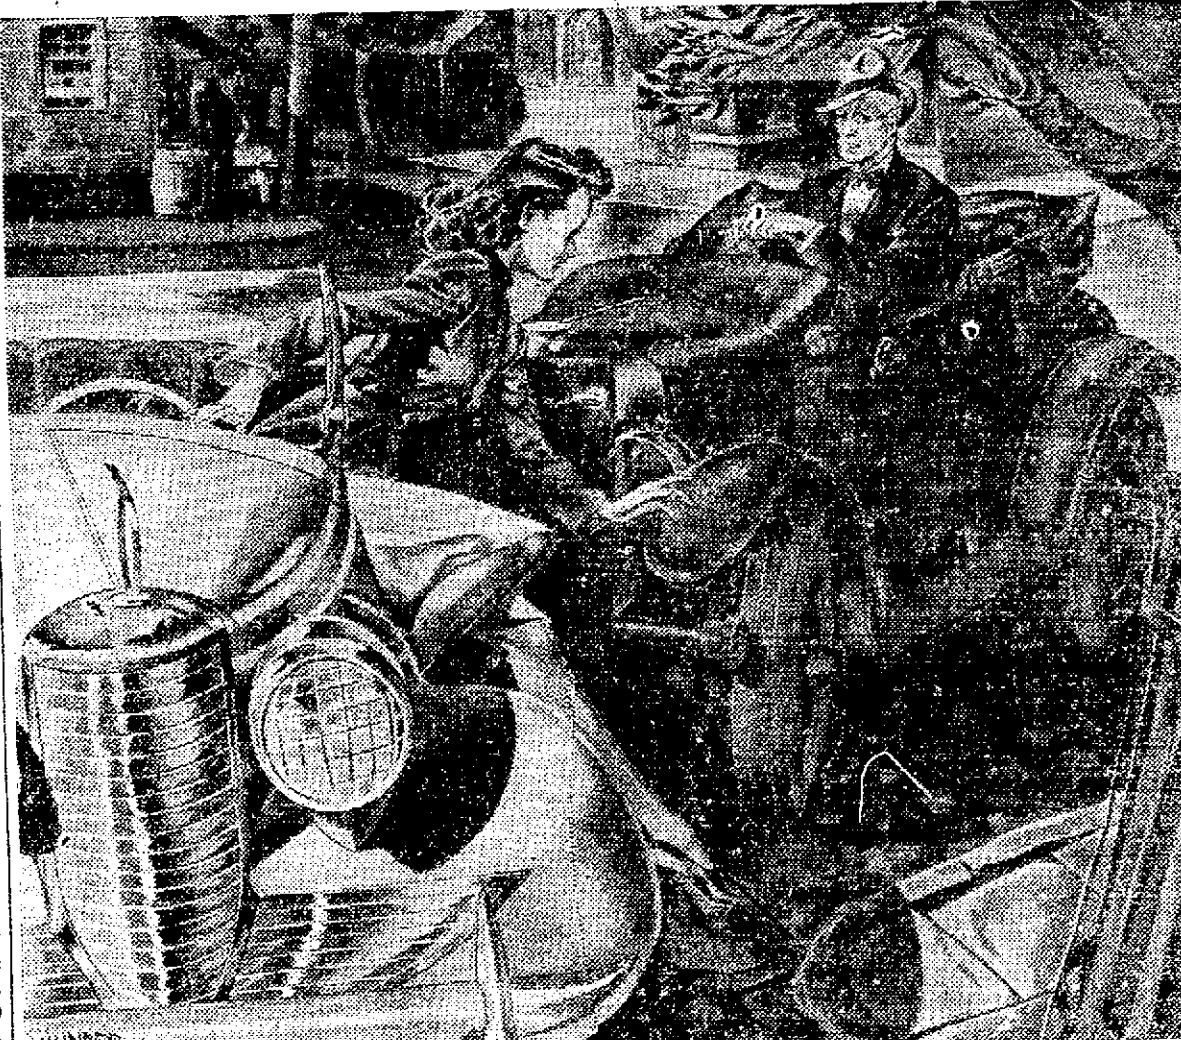

"That's the spirit, my boy!" said Mr. Seawell. "Do you mind if I make a suggestion?"

"No, sir. Of course not," the lawyer said. "If I were you," the lawyer said, "I'd go straight to Polly Jenkins this very minute, and tell her that he was waiting."

"That's just what I'm going to do," David laughed.

He hurried out.

Into Spring
HE ran down the flight of worn stairs that led from the second floor of the dilapidated office building, and out into the street. There he came to a sudden stop, and caught his breath. It was almost as though spring had miraculously assumed the form of a beautiful young woman, and was smiling at him.

"Of all the crazy stunts I ever saw," the girl began

A sort of warm and happy glow took complete possession of him, and he had the wild urge to burst into singing. But he began whistling instead, although somewhat off key. He was still whistling, and still off key—when he jumped into his ancient little car and went rattling off toward the tearoom where Polly worked.

It was Saturday afternoon, and the lumber plant always closed down on Saturday afternoons. This meant that he had a few hours before him which he could use as he chose. And he chose to get Polly and take her for a ride.

She was probably just finishing up at the tearoom, and would soon be free herself. He had a lot to talk over with her, but the most important thing was his decision to lose no more time in carrying out his promise to Aunt Julia.

As he rode along he thought over different ways of telling her what was on his mind. "Honey, put on your old gray bonnet with the blue ribbon on it, and let's go get hitched." No, he grinned, that wouldn't do. It was too flippant. And Polly didn't like for people to be flippant about serious things. "Polly, dearest, you know that my heart is yours—and I want you to marry me right now!" That was a little better, at still not very thrilling; especially when a girl was like Polly and thought romance and sentiment tremendously important.

Perhaps the best thing to do was to be just plain practical; that is, state facts straight from the shoulder, and let her romance and sentiment for a bit later, when there was a moon and the air was filled with the fragrance of hollyhock and ramble roses. "Look here, Polly, we've delayed long enough—so suppose you pack your duds, and come on—"

He got no further. His thoughts were shattered by a million fragments as a light yellow roadster shot out of side street, and he made a wild grab for the emergency brake.

"Well, what the?" he gasped.

The roadster also came to a sudden and grinding stop. The girl who had been driving it leaped out, and came hugging at him.

David did not move. He just sat there staring at her.

She looked, he thought, rather like a magazine cover. Redheaded, slim, not too tall, not too short. And dressed like nobody's business; all in sport things, colorful and cool and lovely.

"Of all the crazy stunts I ever saw!" the girl began. "You nearly made me smash my car against that light post!"

"Listen!" said David, forgetting what the girl looked like. "don't you start bawling me out! I was driving along, minding my own business, and you come tearing out of that side street like a—house afire!"

"Why—why—" the girl began, and then stopped short. "Well, for Pete's sake, it's you!"

"Sure, it's me," said David. "What did you expect?"

The girl began to laugh.

"David Wiley!" she said. "And what a handsome devil you've grown up to be!" She came closer, held out her hand. "Don't you remember me? I'm Margo Powers."

"Gosh!" said David. He got out of his rickety little car and took the girl's hand. "Gosh! When did you get home?"

"Last night," said Margo. "I've come home for the summer."

Practical and Pretty

The fatidic numerals 1940 replace a plate glass window, as British shopkeepers make the best of the necessity for removing glass windows to minimize bomb danger. London's Leicester Galleries, shown here, have decorated their makeshift windows like a theatre proscenium, with vivid crimson borders around the tiny "peep-show" window—only practical windows in London at the moment.

Attacks on Eire Continue

Iers, swept over the city at 12.20 p. m. (6.20 a. m. EST) within nine hours after the blasting of two houses on Donore avenue, in a Dublin suburb, where some 20 persons were injured.

The raiders, who landed from the north in the dark hours before dawn while Dublin was illumined with its modified screened type of street lights.

Careful government statements intimated that the raiders, which began scattering bombs extensively on Wednesday night, were German but did not say so directly.

Army engineers arranged to destroy today a number of magnetic sea mines which fell on land yesterday near Ennisberrary in County Wicklow. Experts said these mines were of the type Germany used against British shipping early in the war before the British devised a defensive system, and that the green silk parachutes which brought them to earth also were of German manufacture.

Residents within a half-mile of the mines were moved out and all persons within three miles were instructed to open their windows to prevent damage from the detonations.

Ireland, looking anxiously to her defense needs and acknowledging the pinch of the blockades which Britain and Germany have clamped upon each other, has suffered a half-dozen bombings in recent months.

The German government expressed regret for the bombing of Campille, Ireland, last Aug. 25, in which three girls were killed. It did not acknowledge responsibility, but admitted the possibility that a Nazi flier might have lost his way over Ireland.

It was not until Wednesday night, however, that anything like a concentrated bombing attack occurred.

Then at least three persons were killed and several injured in a five-hour raid on the area within a 60-mile radius of Dublin. The Irish defense department said one of the bombs bore German markings.

Again last night three bombs fell near Ennisberrary, county Wexford, some 60 miles southwest of Dublin, and this was followed by the blow at Dublin itself today.

Ireland, careful of her neutrality has turned a deaf ear to past suggestions from London that she allow Britain to use western Irish ports as bases to facilitate convoy and anti-submarine work.

London and Berlin Both Report New Crescendo Of Air Violence

The British Press Association said that sections of Cardiff were "reminiscent of scenes at Ypres in the World War."

An official announcement of the Bremen raid said large new fires were started adding to the destruction caused in Wednesday night's heavy attack.

Pilots were quoted as saying they were unable to see the burst of the bombs they dropped because of the flames.

The announcement said the British raiders also struck at Emden at the mouth of the Dortmund-Jaume canal, one of the marshalling centers for invasion supplies.

The raid on Emden was the 29th carried out on that naval base since the start of the war, the British said. Previous raids acquainted British pilots with the layout of docks, airdromes and petroleum stores and enabled them to direct their attack last night against "very definite military objectives," it was said.

Meanwhile, the Admiralty announced the British submarine Thunderbolt had sunk an Italian submarine.

The Italian submarine was proceeding to a base "in enemy-occupied territory" under escort, the Admiralty announcement said, when it was attacked by the Thunderbolt, commanded by Lieut. C. B. Crouch.

tation. Friends and associates of the prince said he had not been approached thus far by the Germans and that he would not be a puppet in any event.

It was recalled that Hitler visited Napoleon's tomb, where "L'Aiglon's" ashes now rest, when he went to Paris last fall and meditated there some time.

Montfort's one major rival for the throne of France is the Count of Paris, pretender of the old Bourbon Orleans line.

Montfort's backers say that during his nation's brief war with Germany the young prince served under the name of Louis Blanchard as an armored car driver with the foreign legion in Tunisia.

Range Country Search- ed For Missing Bomber

They had been optimistic until hours after their hopes that the fliers could reach Austin for a landing proved false.

Navy officials did not disclose how much gasoline the bomber carried or how long it might remain aloft.

Radioman A. M. Perry, 31, of Los Angeles, who landed unhurt, said Lieut. Hanson ordered the crewmen to their "chutes" after the plane encountered a "terrible snowstorm." The plane went out of control momentarily after ice began to form on the wings and the storm broke the ship's windows.

Perry said Hanson ordered the men to bail out at 17,000 feet, but undertakers said Perry had not fallen from a high altitude. His parachute was minus its rigging.

The ship was reported not equipped with oxygen and not prepared for high altitude flying that might have taken it over a storm.

A radio report from the plane at 3 p. m. CST. yesterday said it was flying "blind" in a raging storm. That was the last message received from it.

Teaching Profession Lures Bowl Hero From Play - For - Pay Career

New Orleans, Jan. 3.—(P)—The Sugar Bowl's current hero wants no more glory and no more money. Slim Charlie O'Rourke is willing to call his playing career ended with the sensational performance that brought Boston College a 19-13 victory over Tennessee Wednesday in the closing minutes. The placid life of a teacher appeals to him more than the turbulence of a professional footballer.

Dead-Pan Charlie had plenty of both glory and money Wednesday. In the first few minutes of play he received a cruel hip blow, and chunks of skin were scraped from his shins. A team physician said that after the game his body was a mass of bruises. In addition, during halftime Charlie took two salt tablets that made him sick.

CHARLIE O'ROURKE

None of the cheering 73,181 spectators realized it was a sick couple, playing on his nerve, who completed three passes for 18 yards, shattered 24 more for the winning score, then broke up two long Tennessee tosses which appeared to be touchdown specials.

O'Rourke has been drafted by the Chicago Bears but leans toward a proposition as assistant coach and teacher at the Malden, Mass., high school where he started before going to college.

"I've had enough," said the bland hero as he packed his bags last night to leave for Boston.

"You play professional football three or four years, you're through, and what have you?"

Charlie, who will receive a B. S. in education next June, said he did not want a coaching job, however, unless it included classroom teaching duties.

"You have more security that way," he explained, "and that's what I want."

DRAGON QUINTET PLAYS FALCONER THERE TONIGHT

Coach Henry G. Kolpien's undefeated scholastic cagers go to Falconer tonight where they will tackle Mahon Cameron's Lake Shore League quint in the last tilt before starting defense of their Northern Section crown.

Dragons hope to be their sixth victory, the Blue and White cagers will be idle for a week, when they took to Ridgeway to open the league season against the Elks.

The Falcons have won three and lost two games to date, bowing to Dunkirk and Gowanda and winning over Allegany, Randolph and Salamanca.

The second teams will play a preliminary at 7:30 o'clock.

PUBLISHERS TRIP CLASS "A" QUINTET

With "Ugawa Bob" Johnson in top form, the Times-Mirror quint was last night successful in its first Class "A" challenge, disposing of Olson & Bjers, 36-32.

Johnson scored 13 points to lead the Publishers to victory, aided by "Red" Scott and Clair Ward, who counted twice from the field.

Jack Kifer, with ten points, and Maze, with eight, were high for the losers.

Trailing, 11-11, at halftime, the Times-Mirror rang up sixteen points in the third quarter to take a lead from which they could not be dislodged.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

Wilkes-Barre, Jan. 3.—(P)—Just as the year began with a letter of congratulations, Postmarked December 21 in Philadelphia, it was dated November 4, 1937, and was for the judge's election to the Luzerne county court. He says it probably was lost when first posted, and uncovered during the Christmas rush.

Harmon Hustles As Twain Meet In San Francisco

Packed stands that saw East meet West in San Francisco watched Tom Harmon, Michigan's All-America back, tote the ball in his usual galloping style, but also saw Western All stars sweep to a 20-14 victory. Harmon (No. 98) is pictured above carrying the ball behind the interference of Tom O'Boyle of Tulane (No. 77), with Fred Hartman of Rice (No. 52) and Stanley Johnson of Washington State (No. 77 at far right) giving chase.

Soose And Mauriello Clash In Ten-Round Go At Garden Tonight

New York, Jan. 3.—(P)—With Jacobs claiming ever since that all the things that might be said about Promoter Mike Jacobs and his "boxing monopoly" (and usually they are said, at least it is difficult to substantiate a charge that the old ticket holder is unwilling to give "outsiders" a chance.

In the other 160-pound bout, a scrapper, Coley Welch of Portland, Me., meets Ernie Nigh of Newburgh, N. Y. Both look very promising. Welch, in his recent Garden debut, caused one old-time manager to declare he "looked like the first natural body-puncher to come up in 10 years."

The top of tonight's card is a 10-rounder between Dave Castillon, Canadian lightweight champion, and Aldo Spoldi, the stiff-puncher from Italy who went the route of Henry Armstrong a couple of years ago, when Armstrong really was good. The winner supposedly will get a shot at Lew Jenkins, 135-pound titlholder.

WATCHMAN SLUGGED
Williamsport, Jan. 3.—(P)—Harry Payne, night watchman, was slugged and robbed while investigating a light in the office of the C. A. Reed and Company plant.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

Bill Rice

Edmund Wicht, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, who speaks the off-season figuring out new outbursts the next time a reporter happens his way, came up with a handy last week at the 28th annual meeting. The good official took upon himself to define and point out the difference between "community interference" and "community interest," stating that the former is town support of athletic contests in the way of gate receipts and that the latter is "something else." Which leaves the whole business about as clear as mud. Wicht goes on to explain that one of the evils the P. I. A. A. is trying to abolish is the so-called downtown strategy board of the Monday Morning Quarterback Society. "This organization," he says, "attempts to dictate the athletic policy to schools in their city and only results in discussion between school officials and the coach. It should be remembered that the sport belongs to the high school and the students. It should not be commercialized."

For a fellow who has been kicking around competitive athletics as long as he has, Mr. Wicht displays a confessed ignorance of the Ancient and Honorable Order of Rosters. Our experience has been that each fan feels a very personal interest in the town's team, be it scholastic and independent; that he considers himself an expert on matters athletic and that one of his inherent rights is unlimited criticism or praise of coach and players. Take the right to be a "wolf" or a "grandstand coach" away from a fan and you immediately remove his fifty cents from the cash box. These Monday morning quarterbacks can be pretty boring, but we have yet to meet the athletic director or coach whose policies are dictated by any individual or group outside of the school system. Of course, Mr. Wicht backs himself up by his "should not be commercialized," and in the same breath praises community interest because it means support "in the way of gate receipts." We don't get it.

As far as we can see, the dictating is done by the board of control, which plays follow the leader with pretty nearly every other state in the Union. There is also some "controlling" done by principals and it is interesting to note that Wicht explains that under the by-laws of the P. I. A. A. "the high school principal is directly responsible for his school's athletic program." And we'd like to take this occasion to speak right out in meeting to inquire "Why?" This question has been asked in print before, and we have yet to see a satisfactory answer. The boards of education choose coaches and athletic directors with the same care that they appoint a principal, and they name them because they are fitted to run the school's athletic policy. Why is it that the P. I. A. A. arbitrarily eliminates the coach as the leader of his team's fortunes and places the toga on the principal? As we have said before, Warren is fortunate to have a principal and an athletic director who cooperate with each other to the nth degree, and as a result local matters run smoothly. But we know of other schools where the coaches are pushed entirely into the background, and might as well be in straight jackets for all the influence they wield. So, if the Downtown Coaches are dictating, they must be working on the principals, whom Mr. Wicht certainly wouldn't want to criticize.

YEARS AGO IN SPORT
January 3, 1921—Lee Fohl, former manager of the Cleveland Indians and coach of the Browns last year, will manage the St. Louis team in 1921, it was announced today by Bob Quinn, business manager of the club. He succeeds Jimmy Burke, who was deposed and will coach the Red Sox under Hugh Duffy next season.
January 3, 1931—Strong Vincent staged a big third quarter last night at Erie to disprove Coach Kolpien's Dragons in a league game. 29-28. Ray Caldwell scored 13 points for the locals.

GOLF'S LEADING PROS ENTER OPEN AT LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Jan. 3.—(P)—Golf's finest players stand on the firing line today and begin shooting for the richest target put up in the Far West—the Los Angeles Open championship with its $10,000 purse.

The tournament, the 16th annual edition and inaugural event on California's winter links schedule, drew virtually every top professional in the nation for the four-day battle at Riviera Country Club.

Leading the array of champions are defending champion, former and ex-champions in Lawson Little, the former amateur king who emerged from the professional wilderness in this Los Angeles Open one year ago, captured the title and went on to add the National Open crown to his trophy collection.

Listed behind were such former L. A. Open winners as the three Jimmies, DeJaret, Thomson and Hines; veteran MacDonald Smith, four time titlholder; Ed Dudley, Vic Ghezzi, Harry Cooper and Craig Wood, all hoping to start the New Year off with a victory.

Today's field numbers 128 as a result of the qualifying round three days ago.

Little suffered an attack of influenza earlier this week, and the game dropped, but the long-hitting San Francisco man, who won last year with 252, hopes to be in the ring.

SIX WOLVERINES SUSPENDED FOR BREAKING RULES

Sheffield, Jan. 3.—Violation of training rules by six members of Sheffield high school's varsity basketball squad has resulted in the suspension from the team for the remainder of the season of the entire group of players, including Captain Pete Otto, regular center; Paul Pochatko, regular guard; Bob Gustafson, regular forward; Carl Anderson and Lloyd Albaugh, reserve guards, and Nick Otto, reserve forward.

The infraction of the rules which brought about the dismissal of the players by Coach Tom Drummond is said to have occurred the night of Dec. 17, in Ludlow, after the Ludlow-Sheffield game in which the locals were defeated by the Giants.

Coach Drummond now is faced with the problem of rebuilding the Wolverine team and whipping it into shape in time for the opening league game with Bradford on Jan. 10. The nucleus will of course be the two remaining regulars, Jimmy Campasino, forward, and John Savelli, guard. Former reserve players George Olson, guard, and Joe Yuskio, forward, will likely be given starting posts with the fifth starter to be selected from among players: Sherry Henry, Francis Fitzgerald, Don Lyle, Mary Schmiedlin, Gerry McDowell, Mike Steffan, Beryl Burlingame, Reggie Aurilio and Carl Hecei.

BOWLING CHATTER

The second half of the Commercial League was inaugurated last night with clean sweeps registered in every match. The first half champs, Olson and Bjers, bowled to the County News, O. K. Service blanked the Newell Press, the Sherwood Refiners and Rich's Atlantic whitewashed the West Ridge.

Larry Amy's 551 was the best series of the evening and Bob Walsh's 204 was high single.

FIFTY BOYS PLAY IN "Y" TOURNAMENTS

Approximately fifty boys competed in tournaments held yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. with the following winners being announced by Boys Work Secretary T. F. Eppley.

Gil Samuelson was crowned champ of the Class "A" ping pong division, defeating Alan Babcock in the finals, while Algot Eckstrom won the Class "B" title, with a final victory over John Hanna.

Phillip Johnson outmaneuvered the field of 16 to take the checkers title and David Clark was the best out of 20 pool contestants.

BILL BRUBAKER IS SOLD TO ROCHESTER

Pittsburgh, Jan. 3.—(P)—Willbur Lee (Bill) Brubaker, Pirates' utility player for the last six seasons, was sold to Rochester of the International League today, for an undisclosed sum.

The Pirates acquired him from the Beaumont, Tex., club in 1932. After tips under option to the Toronto, Albany and Kansas City teams, he won a place on the Bucs' roster in 1933.

SIX HURT IN FIRE

Pittsburgh, Jan. 3.—(P)—A Christmas tree ignited in nearby Pileman Tuesday, causing a fire which injured six persons, one of them an invalid. Taken to a hospital were Miss Emma Newdorfer, 75 the invalid; Mrs. Clara DeWalt, 77, and Mrs. Ethel Locke, 42. Three firemen were burned in rescuing them from the blazing house. A spark from a toy electric train was blamed for setting the blaze.

Mrs. Myra A. Francis, of 1105 Pennsylvania avenue, east, passed away at her home this afternoon at one o'clock, aged 81 years. She was born August 14, 1859. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Blanche L. Francis, and one son, Charles B. Francis, both at home. Funeral plans will be announced later.

TIMES TOPICSSTARTS YEAR RIGHT

Harry Shawkey, well known local sportsman, started the New Year right—by holding a perfect cribbage hand, Harry was playing in a two-handed game with W. W. Muir at the Masonic Temple on Wednesday morning when he came up with the "29" count. He held the jack of hearts and the five-spots of diamonds, clubs and spades. The five of hearts was cut to provide the perfect total.

Executive Discusses With Leaders Ideas for New Legislation

Well up on this list were higher taxes, an increase in the national debt limitation, changes in present fiscal policies, plans for hastening a balanced budget, social security act revision, suggestions for broadening the agriculture benefit program and renewed recommendations for alterations in the labor act.

Washington, Jan. 3—(P)—Senator Hiram W. Johnson, independent California Republican, was sworn in for a fifth senate term today after refusing to allow Senator Sheridan Downey, his Democratic colleague from California, to escort him to the well of the chamber for the induction ceremony.

Johnson shoved Downey away as the latter sought to take his arm and accompany him down the senate's center aisle.

Downey, his face suddenly red, looked amazed, then turned and walked back to his own seat as Johnson marched alone into the chamber well.

The senate leaders discussed with President Roosevelt at an early-morning White House visit his ideas for a new legislative program.

As a follow-up of a similar meeting yesterday with house Democratic chiefs, the chief executive talked with Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic leader; Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the senate finance committee, and Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, a leading member of the appropriations group.

Barkley said they had a "general discussion" of new legislation to come, but he would not detail any of it.

In both senate and house, the hands of the big gold clocks had reached 12:02 p. m. before Garner and House Clerk Sproul Trimble banged their gavels.

In the house the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain, prayed for the survival of democracy.

Members listened quietly, then became slightly noisy when a clerk commenced to call the roll by states.

Controversy Over Music To Get Into Court

Pulitzer prize winning comedy, "Of Thee I Sing."

The copyright of the song is controlled by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers which charges that the copyright was infringed by playing of the song in the Fred Allen radio program Wednesday night.

John G. Payne, ASCAP's general manager, said attorneys are preparing the suit.

The action, Payne said, would name as defendants the Texas Corporation (Texaco), its advertising agency, the Columbia Broadcasting System and CBS-affiliated stations which used the program.

The dispute between ASCAP and the majority of the nation's broadcasters reached a climax New Year's eve, when a five-year contract covering fees to be paid ASCAP for use of its 1,500,000 songs expired with no immediate hope of renewal.

The three major radio chains and all but 137 of the country's 700 stations then began using songs controlled by Broadcast Music, Inc., formed by the broadcasters.

The first true native writer of South America was Garcilaso de la Vega (1540-1616), an Inca Indian.

New Triumvirate Chosen To Direct Petain Gov't

(From Page One)

The press service which had been under Baudouin's direction since Pierre Laval's ouster as foreign minister and vice premier Dec. 14 will be attached under the new set-up to the presidency of the council, which is Petain's department.

Baudouin's post as secretary of state for presidency of the council was similar to the post of under-secretary of state attached to the former French regimes.

The cabinet change, which had been rumored ever since the Laval ouster, was interpreted by informed observers as substituting a directorate for the one-man power held by Laval. It was believed the Germans had already been advised of these new changes, but it was the uncertainty whether they approved.

It was known they demanded cabinet changes, but it was believed they wished Alibert and Peyrouton out of the cabinet entirely.

Observers expressed belief that German reaction would signify whether negotiations for collaboration, interrupted since Laval's resignation, might be renewed.

Baudouin's resignation came completely as a surprise. Called on the telephone, Baudouin was asked:

"Is it true that you've given your resignation?"

"Yes, that is so," he replied.

Asked for the reason, he responded: "I cannot tell you," but added that Marshal Petain had accepted the resignation.

The resignation of Jean Tixier Vignancourt, head of the press services, also was reported, but could not be confirmed.

Informed sources said Baudouin's resignation was a result of the French-German negotiations but it could not be ascertained whether the Germans had demanded it.

It was known they had demanded certain cabinet changes, but it was not believed Baudouin was among those concerned.

The new triumvirate chosen to direct the French government under the aged chief of state, Marshal Philippe Petain, is made up of two fighting men and a veteran of two decades in the French political scene.

Designated as head was Admiral Jean Darlan, who was named "admiral of France" in 1939, with supreme command of all naval forces. He became minister of navy in the Petain cabinet last June just before the fall of France.

Last month he received the bones of "L'Aiglon," Napoleon's only son, when the Germans returned them to Paris from Vienna and since that time had been reported actively engaged in the negotiations with the Germans.

General Charles Huntziger, one of the French delegates to whom German armistice terms were handed in Marshal Foch's railroad car in Compiegne Forest last June, retains his duties as defense chief in the new triumvirate. He also was a signer of the French-Italian armistice.

Huntziger became minister of war in the Petain cabinet last September. He was reported to be opposed to French participation in the war against Britain.

The third member of the directorate is Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin, premier of France from Nov. 8, 1934, to May 30, 1935, and holder of half a dozen different posts in French cabinets over a period of 20 years.

He became foreign minister after the resignation of Pierre Laval last month.

Hostilities in Many Sections Slowed Down

Blizzards swept through France and Spain. The main lines of some Spanish railroads were blocked by drifts and heavy damage was reported in the Algeiras region in southwest Spain.

A foot of snow fell in Vichy. In the French Alps, railway and motor travel was limited and many buses were reported stranded as wind velocities reached 55 miles an hour.

The storms caused shipping to be held in the ports of Gibraltar, Ceuta and Tangier.

Fourteen peasants were reported buried in an avalanche near the Yugoslav village of Prozor, where two killed.

In Copenhagen the mercury sank to 30 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

By The Associated Press
Avon-By-The-Sea, N. J., Nischa Levitzki, 42, noted concert pianist and composer. Among his compositions were "Arabesque," "Valse Opus 6," "enchanted Nymph," "Gavotte Opus 3," and "Valse Opus 2."

Wrightsville

Wrightsville, Dec. 31—Miss Doris Allen spent the weekend at the home of Miss Marilyn Stewart, of Bear Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Johnson were Christmas eve guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arden Bull, of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Robins, of Spring Creek, were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Clark of this place.

Thomas Meehan, of Conry, was a Saturday night and Sunday guest at the home of his brother, John Meehan.

Manley Johnson and mother, Mrs. Alma Johnson, were weekend guests at the home of the latter's daughter, Mrs. C. L. Johnson, of Erie.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Stewart and family, of Bear Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Richards, of Youngsville, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Rea Eggleston, of this place.

The Wrightsville Sunday school program was held Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, but due to much illness among the children many of the pieces were left out. At the close of the program candy was given to the children. Catherine Peters and Pauline Meehan received Bibles for perfect Sunday school attendance for the last three months. Julia Hallgren received a book of Bible stories.

Mr. and Mrs. John Meehan and daughter, Pauline, were Sunday afternoon visitors in Conry.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sitter and Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Sitter were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Eli Boardman, of this place.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rea Eggleston were Carl Christenson, of Ashtabula, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Morse of Stockton, N. Y.; and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morse and daughters, Nancy Lee and Carol, of Lakewood, N. Y.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE
Bloomburg, Jan. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Berger and a friend escaped serious injury although their car plunged over an embankment and crashed 75 feet down a hillside, overturning three times.

UNLUCKIEST CARD
The unluckiest card in a pack of playing cards is the eight of spades, according to superstition. Napoleon Bonaparte ascribed his defeats to its influence.

The male ostrich often weighs 300 pounds.
